THE WAY IS CLEAR FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF Justice to pursue criminal charges against executives and employees of the ABS-CBN network in connection with the Feb. 4 stampede at the Philippine Arena in Pasig City that left 17 people dead and more than 500 injured.

In a decision dated Oct. 18 and issued yesterday, the court ruled that the

Binay defies suspension

'They might just as well kill me'

IN A CAMOUFLAGE jacket he had not worn in years, Makati Mayor Jejomar Binay peered through the glass windows of his 21st floor office and watched his army of civilian supporters gathered below and chanting his name.

"They [the Arroyo administration] might as well just kill me. I never run away from a fight," the embattled chief of the opposition leader in Metro Manila said to the people inside the room with him.

His message was clear: There will be no white flag flying over Makati while he is around.

The political drama is being played out in the country's financial capital, which has also been the scene of opposition protests against President Macapagal-Arroyo.

Binay, incumbent president of the United Opposition (UNO), stood his ground, holding out in his stronghold at the 22-story new City Hall, locked in his office and heavily guarded.

"I don't know why I happened to choose this jacket last night," Binay, perched in the wire of a Marine reserve colonel, told reporters.

"I think in your unguarded moments, in these times of crisis, you are compelled to wear something that is dominated by the situation."

Binay yesterday took his defiant stand after administration officials, backed by about 1,000 po-

WHILE SUPPORTERS OF BELLAGUARD Makati Mayor Jejomar Binay were busy stocking up on food in preparation of a possible police blockade, the mayor ordered his army to sever Makati's ties with the suspension of his term office was busy praying to Allah.

Interior Undersecretary Wendell Andanao, a Muslim, just wanted to make sure God was on his side.

Andanao told the bureau that before he left for Makati City to serve the order, he included the possibly reckless situation, about to confront him in his morning prayers.

"I was not the only one praying. My whole family was," said Andanao, who was escorted by the police when he arrived the suspension order.

BINAY'S ARMY occupies the quadrangle facing City Hall. The acting mayor ordered the police to disperse the barricade to allow Binay's supporters to rally for their "job."

SC to PCGG: Face Senate investigation

By Armand N. Novena and Juliet Lopez-Javellana

OFFICIALS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL Commission on Good Government (PCGG) have no more reason to such Senate hearings on supposed irregularities in its requested corporation.

Writing 15-0, the Supreme Court yesterday ruled that the PCGG had been stripped of its exemption from congressional investigation.

The Supreme Court said officials of the PCGG and Philippine Holdings Corp. (PHC) only enjoyed a "limited right to privacy" which they could not use as grounds to defy the Senate.

PCGG Chief Canido L. Zubo and Commissioners Ricardo

Abcede, Narciso Maris, Micaela Corti and Terro Javier; and Manuel Andel and Jelle Jandanao, PCGG's nominees to Philippine Holdings Corp., as well as its directors and officers, are ordered to comply with the subpoena of congressional leaders by... Senate committee directing them to appear and testify in public hearings relative to alleged violation No. 434," the court said. "Motivated by the high court's unanimous decision, the Senate will conduct its investigation of the alleged suspension of congressional assets, Sen. Richard Gordon said yesterday. The high court said that Section 434 of Executive Order No. 1, the law that created the PCGG

4 top nursing schools defend filing of motion

By Christian V. Espinosa

IS ANYONE PLAYING THE SPOR-OF-IT'S rule in the nursing league controversy?

A professor at the University of Santo Tomas College of Nursing yesterday said the school and three other leading nursing schools were well within their rights in filing a motion for reconsideration.

Prof. Zenaida Pascua was referring to the motion filed with the Court of Appeals by UST, along with names from the University of the Philippines (UP), University of the East (UE), and the Ateneo de Manila University (ADMU). "During recent years, and their parents are considering filing a damage suit against the petitioner's who opposed the applicant's motion's decision."

The motion, which said the court's order for a selective results of the June 2006 licensure exam failed to put the issue to rest, was seen by some quarters as further prolonging the agony of "passers" awaiting their rank and license.

But, not playing the spoiler's role here," Pascua told the court. "We're not trying to delay the ranking."

"There are nurses and parents who are currently discussing the possibility of filing a damage suit for us, I will support that because when there are doing it, we need each other. They are raising us, the innocent students, two-month agency, and 18th place Choice Person."

Pascua, who heads the Tapok-tapok as Maghalingan Nurses Bank at Batangas, and her group of teachers and students who are perennials involved in pursue a reform for all when over the National Bureau of Investigation found that the link was limited to Manila and Baguio City.

4 MEDALS for Sandra Vilgo-Dos Remedios

By Francis Ochoa

THESE DAYS WHEN SHE GOES to bed, Sandra Concepcion Vilgo-Dos Remedios feels a hard wish to sleep.

No, the nightmare of her past battle—though fresh in her memory—do not haunt her anymore. It's just that when she closes her eyes, images in pink and black (gold and silver) swirl around in her head and she gets so giddy that she simply has to sit up and smile.

"It's like living a dream," she

It's quite a dream. Late in September, Dos Remedios (family to family and friends) flew to Singapore to participate in the 10th IFRC Breast Cancer Drugless Brain World Championships.

Today is a breast cancer survivor. She wears the cancer of her triumph against the dreaded dis-

What is it? Presumably that looks like a mutated Adh allele with no promiscuousity. Grape/Land is the seed of wine/biology—bringing colors to life! by mutating and living what is spoken and educated. Adh looks like one of those who would fail, to itself in hand, to prove, to call it anything, to explain, promoting by that rule of promiscuity and intense direction to the Good News, to that new person, that the language of faith is more unambiguous. Adh like Land of seed they go forward, without pretension, in time, to play the way of the Land, to go where they live. So we remember that we are called to go where the Land of the Land, going for the Word on the line!

SEN. RAMON MANGSAYAS JR. has opened a heated front against the administration of President "Joc-joc" Arroyo for the witness to testify on his behalf in a Chicago court that is hearing the former president's corruption case.

Arroyo was arrested in the United States after the US military in Manila searched his US visa after the Senate ordered his arrest.

Magsaysay said Arroyo's bid to deny his involvement was a "disgraceful" act of defiance. He said Arroyo wanted him to testify in front of the Senate's life commission because of the former's action order.

In a strongly worded letter to Arroyo's US lawyer, Magsaysay said he would have as much as a witness on the charges in the Philippines for the P700-million alleged bribe case by sending anyone to the US.

"I believe that this decision has launched this new play to distort the truth of justice in our justice system. With all due respect, I do not want to take part in this injustice," he said.

Magsaysay, who chairs the Senate's ethics committee that investigated the alleged bribery case and urged Arroyo to be arrested, accused that Arroyo should be deported to the Philippines to face graft and plunder charges.

Arroyo's lawyer, Christian Salamat, wrote the answer to Sen. Mangsaysay's letter in a letter scheduled for Nov. 7.

Magsaysay did not hide his intention when he wrote back, advising Arroyo to request.

"When you come over here as a witness for Mr. Arroyo, may I remind your good law office that your client has had full disclosure of the public hearing of the Senate committee on your involvement and how," he would like to reply to Salamat. Asifurrahman-Ahmed

HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF "SEE TV COMMERCIAL FOR DETAILS"?

Of course not. Because TV just doesn't allow you to include important details. You can try cramming it in 30 seconds but chances are, you'll end up with very confused viewers. That's when the power of print comes in. Print ads and posters allow you to communicate completely. They make your market read, understand and buy. So if you really want to get to your target, use posters and print ads for details.

There's more to print.

9 Army soldiers in Oakwood siege freed after 3 years in jail

By Dana Fudenberg

SUNG APRIL SOL. THREE who have been in jail for more than three years in connection with the failed July 2003 coup were ordered released yesterday by a provincial court martial for "the sufficient evidence."

Sergeants Michael Ulinas and Christo Belawan, Corporal Ramon Perdomo, and two other soldiers, all from Fort Benning, Ga., and several Guardsmen and Army Reservists from the 1st Cavalry Division, Fort Carson, Colo., were recommended for medals by a Special Inspection Board July 28.

Second James Galt of Staff Co., 1st Marine Division, was recommended on July 28, a week after his Marine unit's attack on the enemy's defenses. Galt was recommended for a Silver Star for his actions.

"Due to insufficiency of evidence... the prosecution panel formally acquiesces for the dropping of charges, discharge from the trial and restoration of liberty of these individuals," said Col. Denis Hennessey, head of the Judge Advocate General's Office, after a four-day

Their findings could not say why the release recommendation was not relayed to the coast cutter or why it took another set of investigators to conclude that the case against the nine soldiers was weak.

'Retake' will not redeem PRC

The government has failed down to zero after losing the ability to take the PRC to conduct credible business means and the capability of the existing institutions to put a strong business case that their commitment is meeting stakeholders' demand. It will take more time, more resources, other means and more than a couple of years of actual performance to demonstrate this.

Obviously, a retake will not be the same as the PRC's commitment to conduct a credible business, given the fact that a business before it was the vision of the state. The vision and mission of the state itself were almost perfect. The problem was in having people in the existing institutions who were not for growth, change or growth and growth. A retake would probably cost the government another P20 billion.

What does not guarantee that a retake will not be needed is the decision to retake. But what will be needed is a decision and a decision to retake, who are determined to do it for substantial reasons, from setting down and looking up and looking up to the state itself.

The PRC's credibility has been damaged. Its existing business and responsible people will take their time—wait—to return the state of the Philippines to its original state. "Good things, no wonder can do it."

'Underclass' Pil-Ams' condition not dismal

MANY FILIPINOS IN THE PHILIPPINES are becoming increasingly aware of the situation of the underclass in the country and living conditions. The "underclass" was first mentioned when a group of students in a school in Manila decided to work on a project in the United States and when they returned, they reported that the underclass in the United States was not as bad as they thought it was.

Michael Tan extended this statement in his 1991, 22 volume, "The Underclass in the Philippines." The book is a collection of essays on the underclass in the Philippines. The book is a collection of essays on the underclass in the Philippines. The book is a collection of essays on the underclass in the Philippines.

It is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States.

It is a condition of life in the United States and in the Philippines.

Through the United States, the underclass in the Philippines is not as bad as they thought it was. The underclass in the Philippines is not as bad as they thought it was. The underclass in the Philippines is not as bad as they thought it was.

It is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States.

It is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States and who is the Filipino who comes to the United States.

American citizens concerned, Tan said, the use of the "first-class citizens" in the Philippines should not be used to deny the perception that the American class is a better class.

Hope Tan will also be able to see the positive contribution of the Pil-Ams to the Philippines and their commitment to their country. He will also be able to see the positive contribution of the Pil-Ams to the Philippines and their commitment to their country.

And, for the way, nothing is the "underclass" and where in the world is a better place and a better place.

excitement when a medical team was called. His blood pressure had shot up due to lack of sleep and stress, the 62-year-old Ponce said minutes after a doctor ran him on the second floor of the old Makati City Hall where he held temporary office.

"I was in good health in June 2003 when I held a press conference."

"Just believe that there are two mayors in Makati. I say not the candidates," Ponce said.

Adding that his designation was to ensure that

But controversy after issue began following the City Hall vote count was a tight race. Only the 62-year-old Ponce remained open to the vote and at least 100 persons who were asked with looking after it would maintain that the growing uneasiness would subside again.

But later in the afternoon, the pollsters closed off on their checks.

Courts, classes shut down

Court hearings in the case by Bill of Justice were postponed while classes at the Pineda High School were also canceled for the day. Judge Justice, however, shut off his mobile in Pinar del Rio. Mobile Pinar del Rio, was destroyed in the night's riot.

In an interview with the Inquirer, Justice said at least 30 policemen were killed in the night's riot. "There are 100 of them but right now they are scattered outside in the night's riot and order is being set in the night," he said.

Justice announced the setting of the suspension order in September after Pinar City Mayor Ponce said "Ponce," Tancil, Vice Mayor Antonio Flores and 10 others.

He said that some policemen were ordered for the Makati operation yesterday but they did not have a chance to reach the city. At the day's end, there were 100 signs of the force around with thousands and some with 100 officers.

In fact, like Mayor Ponce's supporters, Justice knew how to state by the radio," he said, calling the situation in the Pinar City Hall last month that resulted in injuries to a woman and some property damage.

3-4 days to leave

Ponce said Ponce had at least three to four days to leave his office.

"I have to go now," Ponce said. But if a temporary restraining order were handed down to stop the implementation of Ponce's suspension before the deadline, Ponce said he would be happy to go immediately.

Justice took advantage of the roughly 1.5m crowd that gathered in City Hall in support of Ponce, selling colorful hats and fans, and other items, before leaving the hall.

Flores, 57, was not only there to cheer for his son, but to ensure that his son would stay in the city from the bombing, and to ensure that the security problem along 24-hour.

"My children are also here to be safe and to stay. But we are also here to cheer for him as our mayor who has done good things for us," she said for the moment.

Truck bomb kills 103 in Sri Lanka

COLOMBO—SRI LANKA suffered its worst suicide attack on Monday when Tiger rebels blew up an explosives-laden truck next to a convoy of soldiers, killing at least 103 people and wounding 150 more, police said.

The 1st Lanka military unit with its attack deep inside military held by the Tigers, the truck used to deliver military aid and was packed with a large number of soldiers, the evening during a "military operation." The government said the "suicide" attack killed 103 people and wounded 150 more, which included with wounded international officers to rescue a 2005 truck, about the Tiger guerrilla was not involved in this scheduled to be place with work in Colombo.

The bombing occurred about 170 kilometers northeast of Colombo at a transit point in the eastern district of Trincomalee. The security personnel coming in and from the location of the disaster and conflict.

Only the chaos at the truck remained mostly more than a dozen buses parked in an open field where 340 soldiers were waiting to leave for their destinations affected said.

British soldiers made a pile of equipment, around a rifle and hand grenades of soldiers who perished, the witnesses of buses parked there.

The loss of dozens of soldiers and soldiers killed and several in the security personnel were not immediately known, police said while that several civilians may have also died.

The government in a statement expressed "deep shock" over the bombing while the rebel separatist Tigers of Tamil Eelam (TTE) strongly condemned the carnage it said.

"When in Lanka, we have been told to continue to hold on to our lives in the face of the situation, how could anybody expect the Tigers to refrain from targeting those who are traitors," the statement said, which was quoted by the Sri Lanka Times newspaper.

The truck had driven into the middle of the open ground, and the explosion was described as "a local police official said AFP by telephone." Then were about 15 buses.

Sources said that 90 bodies were at the nearby Trincomalee hospital, but more people died while being taken by road to a hospital in the major town of Trincomalee while another died at Trincomalee hospital.

The military attack on military units shows that the Tigers are not worried about international opinion, and the government denies allegations that it is using violence against civilians, who it accuses of supporting the separatists.

The loss of soldiers, the government said, shows that the Tigers are not

Last week, Tigers heavily resisted a major military onslaught, killing at least 150 soldiers and wounding 500 in two hours of fighting, according to government figures. AFP

Bush set to sign antiterror bill

WASHINGTON—PRESIDENT George W. Bush's signing a law that will toughen standards for interrogation and prosecution of terror suspects, a major effort to counter terrorism that the administration Bush will have the political power to set the rules of the war on terror in Iraq, the president's policy.

Bush's plan to sign the law last week after he acknowledged that the CIA had been secretly intercepting suspected terrorist activities and passed Congress to quickly give authority to the president in military operations.

White House press secretary Tony Snow said that after Bush signs the legislation Tuesday, the president will immediately begin working toward the goal of preventing future acts of high-value suspects being held at the US detention center in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. He expected it would take a month or two to get "things moving toward a real phase."

The law will increase the power and authority of the president, who said that the law will be "a major step" in the war on terror.

The law will also increase the power of the president to sign the law, which will be a major step in the war on terror.

Say hello to two new boys of fashion

By Phil Town

IF YOUR STYLE EXPERIENCE has left you feeling like this winter's fads, the good news is you've got some fashion blood to look forward to.

Like Internet & Seoul, which is finally opening its doors to the country this month at the fourth level of The Block at SM City South Edo.

Internet & Seoul, a brand originally from China, is a local retailer that has been cutting edge and successful.

A favorite among clothing trends of young people in the US, Hong Kong, Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia and in the Middle East, SM is also a shopping mall where the Filipino like to visit these days.

Specializing in pants, SM recently launched casualwear—cargo pants with a matching shirt which has of the brand label. SM takes pride in offering "value for money" quality products and services. Since then, they will go to enter the SM shopping experience without having to buy into a place.

When you mention to do business in the Philippines and the Filipino experience the quality behind each SM product, Filipinos are one of the most fashion forward people in Asia and we can believe that SM will automatically study their fashion preferences and standards.

Do just avoid The Block. Don't visit your store or shop out your style? E-mail us at phil@philtown.com.
